

STORAGE

conversion of a factory loft into a Bed & Breakfast - Hostel, Seating and Lounge area in the common room

Project data:

project type: interior design / furniture design / client consultation

year: 2009

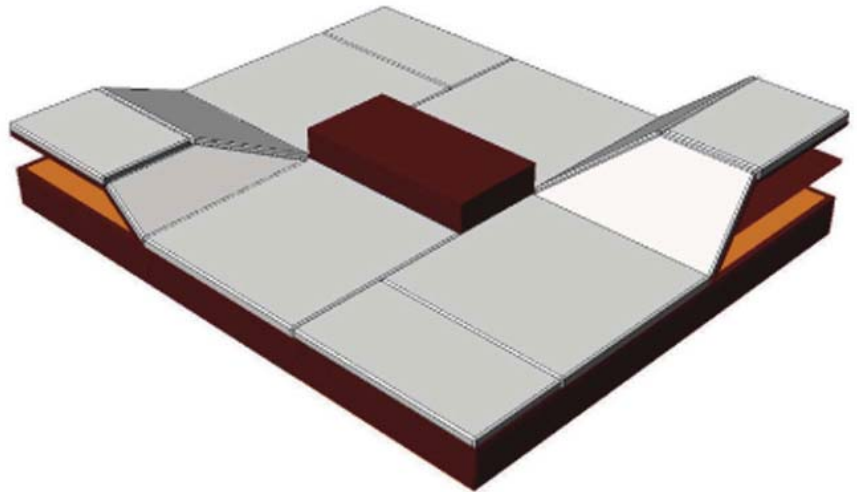

location: Berlin

client: private

size: 300 sqm / 3200 sqft lounge furniture: 6 sqm / 65 sqft phases: 1-3, 5-8

status: start of construction July 09

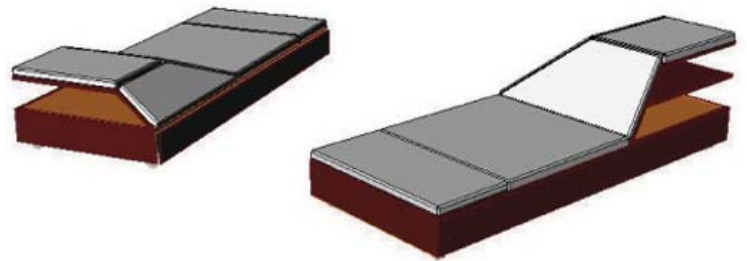

Project description:

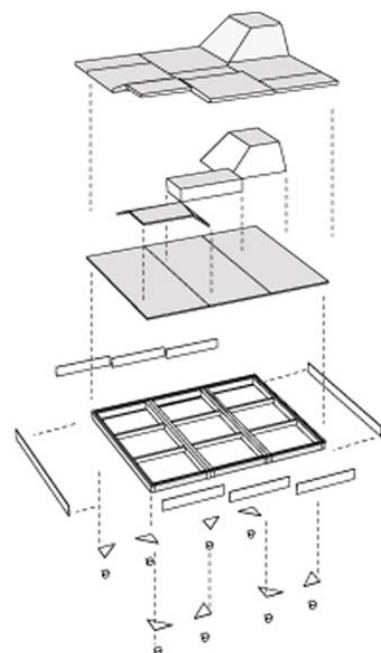

The 300 sqm industrial loft in the former mill storage building in the Schlesische Str. Berlin Kreuzberg is converted into the Storage Berlin, a Bed & Breakfast for Berlin newcomers all over the globe. SPAR*K is supporting and consulting the owner with his planning and is also designing a platform as seating furniture for the large common room. According to the wishes of our client, the divan is layed out as module furniture, separable into three parts and mounted on rollers. Several prominent backrests rise out of the platform, both for resting and as a bookshelf on the backside. The leatherette upholstery can be distributed flexibly on the platform.

Material: timber frame construction, resin coated plywood, rubber foam, leatherette, heavy-duty rollers.

www.storage-berlin.com

Divan Single-Modules

Divan exploded drawing